

Martin Rogers

I've been interested in wildlife since childhood, and now have the time to pursue that interest (and my photography) – and few areas offer such plentiful opportunities. I joined Margaret's botany group some years ago, and have learned a lot from her. I'm still no botanist, though I do take far more photos of plants than I used to!