

Julia Nelson

Until retirement from working in public health, I had little knowledge of botany beyond enjoying seeing wild plants – then I joined Margaret’s Upper Teesdale Botany Group. Learning about the area’s wonderful flora through presentations and kneeling to peer at small plants have been a revelation and I’m still learning.